Welcome Home, Julie!

This morning we give a warm welcome to Julie Broyles, our mission partner who serves in the capital city of Phnom Penh, Cambodia. Julie, a former member of GCOC, is the Director of the Bible English Study and Training (BEST) Center. This ministry teaches English, using the Bible as a text, with volunteer teachers from around the world who serve for several weeks at a time. In addition to the Bible/English courses, the BEST Center utilizes other avenues of outreach by providing dorm housing for students attending universities in the area and hosting a variety of activities throughout the week such as potlucks, game nights, and Thursday night singings. The Center's involvement with the local church makes it an effective and productive mission effort.

We'll have an opportunity to hear more about Julie's work in the assemblies this morning. You are also encouraged to attend the "meet and greet" reception tonight in the Fellowship Center immediately following the 6:00pm worship service to visit with her personally.

Welcome Home, Julie!

WBS: Making Connections that Share Jesus

To share the Good News of Jesus with the world using everyday Christians and interactive Bible studies.

This simple, straightforward mission statement from World Bible School (WBS) perfectly describes this effective ministry which utilizes average church members like you and me to teach the gospel to people around the world through correspondence courses. WBS teachers also help connect their students with churches in their area where they can be baptized and be a part of a local church. Thousands of people are brought to Christ each year through this ministry.

There are several ways you can support WBS:

Join the group of GCOC members who volunteer as teachers for WBS (contact Bob McMillan, the deacon who coordinates WBS here, at bobmcmillan@att.net).

Give to GCOC's Harvest Mission fund on November 8 which provides postage and supplies for this work.

Attend the WBS Benefit Dinner on October 8, 6:30pm, at the Radisson Hotel Fort Worth Fossil Creek (RSVP by October 1 at www.worldbibleschool.net/events or call 800-311-2006).

Make a connection that shares Jesus!
