With Blended Voice

Do you have special memories of time spent praising God with other Christians? Here are a few of mine. Thousands of voices joined together at a national gathering of Christians, boldly proclaiming, Our God, He Is Alive! Breathless hikers singing How Great Thou Art in hushed tones of awe and wonder after reaching the summit of a towering mountain. Campers and their mentors sitting together under the stars of a clear night sky, asking the Lord in blended voice to Light the Fire in their weary souls. There is nothing that reaffirms and strengthens our faith quite like joining our voices together in harmony with other believers in songs of praise to the Lord.

Singing has always been a natural part of worship to God through the ages. It was so important to the Jewish exiles returning from Babylonian captivity that they brought along 200 singers on the journey home to Jerusalem for the purpose of singing praise to the Lord as they celebrated each step of rebuilding the temple, from laying the foundation to dedicating the finished structure.

As we come together to worship Him this morning, I offer you the same invitation extended by David in Psalm 34:3 – “Glorify the Lord with me; let us exalt his name together.” Not only will God be praised, but our souls will be renewed.

Jan Knox
