He Knows Just What I Need

I have always been fascinated by God’s creation of differing personalities in people. Some are social, while others are more reserved. Some focus on the facts of past experience, and some look toward the possibilities of the future. Some approach life with a structured, predictable plan, while others just adapt to life as it comes. People live out life in different ways.

We can also see these variations of personality in the real-life people of the Bible. For instance, in Luke 10:38-42, we observe that Martha of Bethany was hospitable and industrious, while her sister, Mary, was thoughtful and reflective. Then, as recorded in John 11, tragedy struck this family when their brother, Lazarus, became seriously ill. Mary and Martha sent for Jesus, but He waited a few days before coming, and in the meantime, Lazarus died. Both sisters were devastated and broken in their grief but dealt with it in different ways. When Jesus eventually arrived, Martha went out immediately to meet Him. She sought an explanation, and He gave her words of promise and hope. Mary initially stayed at home, perhaps hurt or even angry at His delay, but finally went to Him when He asked for her. She fell at His feet, her mixed emotions spilling out in her tears, and He simply cried with her.

Jesus responded to each one differently, comforting Martha with His words and connecting with Mary through His tears. He gave each one what she needed at the moment.

As our Creator, the Lord knows each of us intimately. As David says in Psalm 139:1-4, He “knows me” and is “familiar with all my ways.” Jesus knows just what we need at any given moment and willingly provides for those needs throughout our lives. Let’s take notice and thank Him for that provision today.
