“Being the Church” in Mexico

What is the best way for vulnerable, impressionable children to learn what being a part of Christ's church is all about? When they see Christians “be the church” instead of just “go to church” and consistently model the love of Christ to them.

Since August of last year, members of the Cuauhtemoc Iglesia de Cristo (Church of Christ) have traveled about ten miles each Sunday afternoon to the small town of Anahuac to serve and worship with the children and staff of Casa de la Esperanza (House of Hope). The time they spend there each week teaching, loving, and mentoring these children has helped them see the love of Christ in action. Othoniel Gutierrez, minister for the Cuauhtemoc church, recently informed us that four young ladies at the home had surrendered their life to the Lord in baptism during one of their visits there. God is using this congregation's efforts to “be the church” to produce spiritual fruit beyond measure in His kingdom.

Everyone involved in this endeavor has been blessed – from the children who have experienced firsthand the love of Jesus, to the Christians who have served them and witnessed their spiritual growth, to the Granbury Church of Christ who has served as a mission partner and financial supporter to both of these groups. May God be glorified as we all live out our faith!
